Been in a job that bores you, is taxing on your time and resources? The way to rejuvenate it and you is to look at it from the perspective of love. By this I mean to turn everyday tasks into opportunities to love. Give up self-pity, angry-pressure and worshipping the tree of knowledge of good and evil. Instead we re-focus on whatever good we can do for God, others, and self. We can romanticize love, but the next step is to seize the opportunities to show love and live out the romanticism by practically doing those small things that show people they are care for!

Is the tree of knowledge of good and evil the first Knowledge of right and wrong known to Adam and Eve after they were created? No, Adam and Eve knew good and evil in the sense that God did before the temptation in the garden of Eden. This tree is a tree of sin. It is an unhealthy tree. It promised good by doing evil, hence this is its nature. It separated Adam and Eve from complete dependence on God to do good and to know right from wrong. Instead it set up a paradigm of thought where foolishness, fear and pride became the root to getting good stuff through evil means. The tree of knowledge of good and evil is a shortcut to getting what we think we want. It needs to be dismantled and removed from within us.
